

Name _____

What Role Do Uranium and Plutonium Play in Nuclear Reactors?

Short Answer Key

1. Fission is when an atom splits and releases heat.
2. A turbine is a machine that spins to make electricity.
3. Uranium is more commonly used than plutonium.
4. They hold nuclear energy, which is very powerful.
5. Because a small amount can make a lot of electricity.