The Race

Early one morning, Timmy decided to go jogging in the park. He put on his running shoes and started jogging, but he was so slow that a snail overtook him! Timmy huffed and puffed, but he just couldn't catch up to the snail.

He stopped to take a break and found a group of senior citizens laughing and jogging together. They invited Timmy to join, and he realized that jogging could be fun, even if you're not the fastest!
