Feline Friends: Understanding Pet Cats

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Cats are often described as independent because they can entertain themselves and don't require constant attention like some other pets.
2. Grooming each other helps cats in forming bonds by reinforcing social bonds through physical contact and mutual care.
3. One interactive activity that can keep a cat entertained is playing with a feather wand or laser pointer.
4. Signs that a cat is content and happy include relaxed body language, purring, and kneading with their paws.
