

Name _____

Pig Parade

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. The pigs became like the humans because they wanted more power and comfort, forgetting their original goals.
2. The animals could have worked together to question the pigs' actions and stopped trusting them blindly.
3. Orwell suggests that revolutions can fail if the new leaders become as corrupt as the old ones.
4. The story warns readers to be cautious of leaders who seek too much power and to stand up for fairness.
