

Name _____

Virtual Adventures: A Sonnet of Pixels and Hearts

In pixels, we embark on quests unknown,
Through screens, our virtual world brightly shone.
We delve into this realm, both near and far,
With friends we've met online, we reach for stars.
But in this cyber land, we find a twist,
For real-life bonds are sometimes sorely missed.
While avatars in games can be our guide,
True human connections may be set aside.
The challenges we face, both young and old,
Are learning to discern what's real and bold.
In pixels, words can hurt or heal the heart,
As kindness and respect must play their part.
So, as we surf through digital delight,
Let's cherish real-world bonds with all our might.

