

Name _____

NGOs as Changemakers: Advocating for Policy Changes

Multiple Choice Questions

1. How do NGOs raise awareness about the issues they advocate for?
 - a) By keeping their research and data secret
 - b) Through lobbying and advocacy campaigns only
 - c) By conducting research and data collection
 - d) Through campaigns, events, and social media

2. Why is grassroots mobilization important for NGOs in advocacy efforts?
 - a) It helps them raise money for their campaigns
 - b) It involves experts and like-minded organizations
 - c) Citizens' voices carry weight in shaping policies
 - d) It allows NGOs to keep their advocacy efforts private

3. What is the purpose of legal action by NGOs in advocacy?
 - a) To avoid engaging with policymakers
 - b) To file lawsuits against other NGOs
 - c) To address systemic issues and bring about policy changes
 - d) To prevent public pressure and petitions

4. How do NGOs engage with international organizations in their advocacy efforts?
 - a) By avoiding international forums
 - b) By participating in protests only
 - c) By engaging with organizations such as the United Nations
 - d) By conducting research and data collection

5. What role does accountability and monitoring play in NGO advocacy?
 - a) It helps NGOs avoid responsibility
 - b) It ensures that promises are not kept
 - c) It holds governments and organizations accountable and monitors policy implementation
 - d) It allows NGOs to keep their actions private

