

Name _____

Exploring Population Density and Distribution Across Continents

Open-Ended Response Questions

1. Compare and contrast the population densities of Asia and Australia, considering their land areas and geographical features.
2. Explain the concept of urbanization and its role in population distribution, providing examples from at least two continents.
3. Discuss the challenges and benefits of high population density in urban areas, and provide examples of cities that face these challenges.
4. Analyze the impact of economic opportunities on population distribution, and describe how it can lead to regional disparities in development.

