E-Learning Adventures: A Sonnet on Remote Education

In virtual halls, we gather to be taught,
Through screens and clicks, a new world we've sought.
Remote and online, education's stage,
A digital classroom, where we engage.

Yet challenges arise in this online sphere,
With tech glitches and distractions, we steer.
The lack of face-to-face, we dearly miss,
In-person learning's warmth, a heartfelt kiss.
But through it all, we learn to adapt,
In this digital realm, we bridge the gap.
Remote education, though not the same,
Still offers knowledge, in a different frame.
As screens light up, we strive to understand,
The world of learning in this virtual land.
