How Do Monkeys Reproduce?

Short Answer Key

1. Gestation is the period when a female carries her baby inside her body before giving birth.
2. Male monkeys attract females by calling, showing their strength, or using colorful features.
3. Mothers carry their babies to keep them safe and ensure they stay close.
4. Young monkeys stay with their mothers for several months or even years.
5. Other monkeys in the group help care for babies, such as watching or carrying them.
