Frogs at Rest - Open-Ended Questions Answer Key

1. Frogs don't need a long, deep sleep because they need to stay alert to escape predators, so short rest periods help them avoid danger.
2. Frog's sleeping habits help them survive by allowing them to respond quickly to threats, avoiding predators in the wild.
3. Sleeping with open eyes allows frogs to watch for danger even while they rest, so they're ready to escape if needed.
4. Humans close their eyes and sleep for long periods at night, while frogs take short rests with open eyes and stay alert.
