Daily Habits and Behaviors of Sea Turtles

Short Answer Key

1. Sea turtles are solitary because they live and travel alone rather than in groups.
2. At night, sea turtles rest by floating near the surface or lying on the seafloor.
3. Smaller animals clean algae and organisms from sea turtles' shells while feeding themselves.
4. Sea turtles travel long distances to find food or reach nesting grounds.
5. Baby sea turtles face predators and obstacles as they try to reach the ocean.
