

Name _____

Sergey Brin: The Co-Founder of Google

Short Answer Key

1. Sergey Brin's family background, which included parents with scientific backgrounds, encouraged his early interest in mathematics and technology. His experiences as an immigrant in the United States reinforced his passion for learning and seeking opportunities in the tech industry.
2. The research project at Stanford University focused on creating an efficient and effective search engine algorithm. This project laid the foundation for the development of Google and its innovative approach to organizing internet information.
3. Google went public with its initial public offering (IPO) in 2004, turning Sergey Brin and Larry Page into billionaires. This IPO had a significant impact on their financial status and allowed them to expand and develop Google further.
4. In 2015, Google underwent a major restructuring and became a subsidiary of Alphabet Inc. Sergey Brin served as the President of Alphabet Inc., overseeing various ventures and subsidiaries, including Google.
5. Sergey Brin co-founded the Brin Wojcicki Foundation, which supports causes such as Parkinson's disease research. Philanthropy is important to him as it allows him to contribute to important causes and make a positive impact on society.

