Swapping Sibling Souls

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Answers will vary, but students may describe adventures like trying new hobbies, experiencing different daily routines, or learning about their family member's or friend's interests.
2. Emily, in Ethan's body, showed empathy and understanding by attending his soccer practice, cheering him on, and appreciating the effort he put into the sport.
3. Students may share personal experiences of learning from challenges, such as participating in a new activity, facing a fear, or helping someone in need.
4. The siblings laughed about their adventure because it helped them cope with the unusual situation and bond over the shared experience. Laughter can be a way to relieve tension and create positive memories.
