

Name _____

Skipping Childhood

Short Answer Key

1. The poem describes the transition from childhood to adulthood as a rush to grow up and leave behind playful activities, replaced by homework, responsibilities, and stress.
2. The line "Growing up too fast, a common plight" highlights that many people experience the feeling of growing up too quickly.
3. The poem suggests that adulthood is relentless in its demands by mentioning schedules, responsibilities, and the urgency of teenage years.
4. The phrase "the joys of youth, a precious flavor" means that the simple joys and experiences of childhood are valuable and should be cherished.
5. The poem advises not to forget the child within your soul to emphasize the importance of maintaining a sense of playfulness and wonder even as one grows older.

