Where Does a Sloth Live?

Short Answer Key

1. The rainforest provides food, shelter, and protection from predators, making it a good habitat for sloths.
2. Sloths use their long, curved claws to grip branches and move through the treetops.
3. On the ground, sloths move slowly and cannot escape predators easily, making them more vulnerable.
4. Sloths come down from trees to find a new tree or for females to lay eggs.
5. Algae on their fur helps sloths blend in with the trees, making it harder for predators to spot them.
