

Name _____

Protecting Kids Online: The Case for a Minimum Age on Social Media

Open-Ended Response Questions

1. Share your perspective on whether a minimum age requirement for social media is necessary to protect young children online. Explain why or why not, and provide examples or evidence to support your viewpoint.
2. Discuss the potential dangers and risks young children may encounter on social media platforms, emphasizing why these risks should be addressed through age restrictions. Use specific scenarios or instances to illustrate your points.
3. Explain how early exposure to social media can impact children's mental health and self-esteem, and suggest ways in which parents and guardians can mitigate these negative effects. Provide examples or strategies to support your response.
4. Reflect on the role of parents and guardians in monitoring and guiding their child's online experiences. How can enforcing a minimum age for social media usage empower parents to protect their children while fostering responsible digital citizenship? Provide insights based on your understanding.

