How Communities in Developing Countries Benefit from Solar Power

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Yes, because it saves money, helps the Earth, and works even in remote areas.
2. They could do homework at night, charge devices for learning, or stay safe with light.
3. Clean water pumps, because everyone needs safe water to drink and stay healthy.
4. I'd put them on school roofs so students can learn and use lights and fans.
