

Name _____

Illinois: Where Surprises Await!

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Quirky roadside attractions like the "World's Largest Catsup Bottle" often attract visitors because they offer a break from the ordinary and provide opportunities for fun, memorable experiences. These attractions can boost tourism and stimulate the local economy, creating a sense of pride and identity for the community.
2. Answers may vary, but examples include hosting a Lincoln-themed parade, setting up a historical reenactment of Lincoln's life, and organizing educational exhibits about his achievements and impact.
3. Fictional superheroes like Superman play a significant role in pop culture, representing ideals and values. Their connection to specific places, such as Metropolis, creates a sense of identity and a unique tourist attraction, contributing to the local economy and fostering community engagement.
4. Preserving historic sites like the Lincoln Home National Historic Site is essential because they provide valuable insights into the history and culture of a region. By remembering and learning from the past, we can better understand the challenges and progress of society, fostering appreciation for heritage and heritage sites.

