The Sacrifice for Survival

Short Answer Key

1. The survivors decided who would make the sacrifice by drawing lots, with each person choosing a straw, and the person who drew the shortest straw was the one to sacrifice themselves.
2. Sarah drew the shortest straw through a random draw, and she felt devastated by the weight of the decision.
3. The group felt torn and conflicted about their decision, understanding it was necessary for their survival but deeply saddened by the loss it entailed.
4. Sarah's sacrifice provided the group with sustenance, prolonging their survival, but it left an emotional scar, making their lives more challenging.
5. The setting is a post-apocalyptic world in ruins, where survivors faced scarcity of resources, dangerous conditions, and the constant struggle to stay alive.
