

Name _____

George Washington: The General of the American Revolution

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. George Washington's role as Commander-in-Chief was crucial because he provided strong leadership, strategic expertise, and inspired the troops, ultimately leading to the victory of the American Revolution.
2. George Washington's experience in the French and Indian War gave him valuable military knowledge and leadership skills that he applied during the Revolution.
3. George Washington's leadership was instrumental in maintaining the morale of the Continental Army, making strategic decisions, and securing vital victories, all of which contributed to the Revolution's success.
4. George Washington's deep commitment to the cause of American independence, along with his sense of duty and patriotism, likely motivated him to accept the position of Commander-in-Chief.

