The Discovery of the "Ozone Hole" As A Global Wake-Up Call

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Because it was proof that people's actions were harming the planet, and it could affect everyone, no matter where they lived.
2. It shows that scientists helped discover the problem and that countries working together helped fix it.
3. I would tell other people, write about it, and try to work with scientists or leaders to find a solution.
4. Because they are the future caretakers of the Earth and need to know how to protect the environment.
