How Long Will It Take for the Ozone Layer to Fully Recover?

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Because the damage was happening high in the atmosphere where people couldn't see it.
2. It shows that when countries listened to scientists and worked together, they made a big change that helped the planet.
3. By following international agreements, reducing pollution, and supporting clean technologies.
4. That even big problems can be solved when people take action and care about the Earth.
