

Name _____

Treaty Tales

Open-Ended Answer Key

1. Tribes might have kept more of their land and cultural traditions, and there may have been less conflict between Native Americans and settlers.
2. It helps us understand past injustices and why it's important to honor agreements and respect Native American rights.
3. Governments should ensure that agreements are fair and kept, and that they respect the rights and needs of all people.
4. By respecting their land and rights, learning about their history, and supporting their efforts to protect their culture and treaties.

