

Name _____

The Trendsetting Teen

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. The teen's fashion sense is described as "daring and rare" because they are not afraid to wear bright colors and bling, which is unusual and stands out. This tells us that they are confident and like to express themselves.
2. Answers may vary, but students could describe the teen as confident, creative, and outgoing.
3. The teen's friends might admire their confidence and uniqueness, and some might even join in on their activities, while others may find it strange or not their style.
4. Expressing oneself through fashion and hobbies allows individuals to showcase their creativity and uniqueness, which can boost self-esteem and help them connect with like-minded people.

