

Name _____

Green Spaces and Parks: Urban Havens for Fun and Health

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Answers will vary depending on personal experiences. Students should describe their experiences and how they felt in a green space or park.
2. Answers will vary, but students should consider factors like park placement, size, accessibility, and the inclusion of recreational facilities in their response.
3. The importance of educating people, especially children, about nature and conservation in green spaces and parks lies in fostering an understanding and appreciation for the environment. This education helps create future stewards of the Earth who are more likely to protect and preserve natural spaces.
4. The most significant benefit of green spaces and parks in urban planning could be seen as promoting physical and mental well-being. This benefit impacts the health and happiness of urban residents, making it crucial for a thriving city.

