

Name _____

Voices of the Revolution

Short Answer Key

1. Some enslaved people fought for the British because they were promised freedom if they helped.
2. Women took over farms and businesses, worked as spies, helped on the battlefield, and even fought in disguise.
3. Native Americans lost land to settlers, and the U.S. government did not always keep its promises to them.
4. Some enslaved people gained freedom because they fought in the war, especially those who joined the British.
5. Women's roles in the war showed their strength and intelligence, leading to later discussions about their rights.

