

Name _____

The Melodies of the Wandering Minstrel

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. The minstrel likely chose to travel and gather stories through his music because he enjoyed sharing tales and songs with others, and he found joy in discovering new stories from different places.
2. A possible story the minstrel might have heard during his travels could be about a brave knight who went on a quest to rescue a captured dragon.
3. The minstrel's music and stories likely brought joy, inspiration, and entertainment to the people he met on his journey. It might have also fostered a sense of unity and shared experiences among those who listened to his songs.
4. The minstrel might have learned that stories have the power to connect people, inspire them, and teach valuable lessons. He might have also learned that there are endless stories to be discovered, each with its own unique charm and wisdom.

