

Name _____

War's Legacy

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Yes, because debates over race, identity, and national unity still happen today.
2. Schools should teach both sides of the war and explain its lasting impact on race and civil rights.
3. I would bring people together for discussions and teach history in a fair way.
4. History helps people understand different perspectives and learn how to solve conflicts peacefully.

