Whale Singing Contest

One sunny day in the deep ocean, a group of whales decided to have a singing contest. They each took turns singing their silliest songs, and the ocean echoed with laughter. One whale sang about eating ice cream with a fork, and another sang about dancing with seashells.

The funniest song was about a whale who tried to fly like a bird but ended up doing somersaults in the air. All the whales laughed so hard that even the fish joined in the laughter.
