What Do Wolves Look Like?

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. A wolf's body is designed for long-distance travel so it can roam far to find food or territory.
2. A wolf's fur color helps it blend into its environment, making it easier to hunt prey and hide from danger.
3. Wolves are good hunters because they have sharp senses, strong legs, and large paws that help them move quickly and quietly.
4. A wolf's size, fur, and specialized features like padded paws and a bushy tail make it well-suited for hunting and surviving in the wild, which helps maintain a balanced ecosystem.
