How Do Wolves Communicate?

Short Answer Key

1. Wolves howl to locate pack members, warn rivals, or gather for a hunt.
2. A dominant wolf stands tall with its ears forward and tail raised.
3. Scent marking is used to establish territory and warn other wolves to stay away.
4. Wolves interact with pups by showing affection, teaching them social behaviors, and guiding them in the pack's activities.
5. Communication helps wolves coordinate movements and strategies during a hunt, increasing their chances of success.
