Wolves: Predators and Threats

Short Answer Key

1. Deforestation destroys the wolves' habitats, making it harder for them to find food and space to survive.
2. Bears and mountain lions are two predators that can threaten wolf pups.
3. Parasites like ticks drain wolves' energy and can cause infections, making them weaker.
4. Wolves communicate through howls and body language to alert their pack of danger.
5. Environmental changes, like harsh winters or droughts, can reduce the availability of prey.
