Colorful Balloons

One sunny day, Timmy's grandma surprised him with a big bag of colorful balloons. Timmy decided to blow them up all by himself. He took a deep breath and blew and blew until his cheeks turned red, but the balloons just wouldn't inflate.

Timmy's grandma couldn't stop laughing because the balloons were actually deflated ones from last year's party! They both had a good laugh and decided to use the deflated balloons to make silly balloon animals instead.
