Stripes and Size: What Makes Zebras Unique?

Short Answer Key

1. Zebras weigh between 400 and 900 pounds.
2. Zebras belong to the equine family, which includes horses and donkeys.
3. Zebra stripes may help with camouflage, recognition, or repelling insects.
4. Zebras' hooves help them run on rough terrain and defend themselves with powerful kicks.
5. A zebra's eyes are on the sides of its head, giving it a wide field of vision to spot predators.
