Where Do Zebras Live?

Open-Ended Response Answer Key

1. Zebras survive in semi-deserts by traveling long distances to find water and food.
2. Protecting zebras' habitats helps maintain the balance of ecosystems, supporting many other plants and animals.
3. If zebras disappeared, predators would lose a food source, and grasslands might become overgrown, affecting other animals.
4. National parks and wildlife reserves provide safe areas where zebras are protected from hunters and habitat destruction.
