

Name _____

The Neverending Bubble Gum Bubble

Once upon a time in the town of Giggleville, there was a young boy named Timmy who loved chewing bubble gum. He had a special talent - he could blow the biggest and most amazing bubbles anyone had ever seen. One sunny afternoon, Timmy decided to try something new.

He took out his favorite bubble gum and began chewing. He chewed and chewed until he had the biggest wad of gum in his mouth. Then, with all his might, he blew a gigantic bubble. It was so enormous that it covered his entire house! The bubble was colorful and shimmering, and it sparkled in the sunlight.

Timmy was amazed, but he knew he couldn't keep the bubble around his house forever. So, he carefully tied a string to the bubble and let it float into the sky. The bubble, with Timmy hanging on to the string, soared higher and higher into the air. Timmy was having the adventure of a lifetime.

As Timmy floated above Giggleville, he waved to his friends below. Everyone in town gathered to watch the incredible sight. The bubble even caught the attention of the local news, and they sent a helicopter to capture the moment.

Timmy's bubble traveled far and wide. It passed over forests, rivers, and even mountains. Timmy saw all sorts of amazing things from up above. He saw birds flying by and clouds that looked like fluffy pillows.

But after a while, Timmy started to feel a little lonely up in his bubble. He missed his family, his friends, and his favorite ice cream shop. He knew it was time to come down.

With a heavy heart, Timmy popped the bubble with a pin he had brought along. The bubble burst into a shower of colorful gumdrops that rained down on the land below. Timmy parachuted safely to the ground, landing in a pile of soft, chewy gumdrops.

His friends rushed over, and they all laughed and cheered. Timmy had the most incredible adventure, and he learned that sometimes, even the most amazing things must come to an end.

