

Name _____

Leonardo da Vinci: The Renaissance Polymath

Short Answer Key

1. Leonardo da Vinci was born in Vinci, Italy, in 1452.
2. Leonardo studied art as an apprentice, acquiring skills in painting and drawing.
3. Leonardo da Vinci studied anatomy, engineering, and nature as a scientist. These studies were significant because they contributed to advancements in our understanding of the human body, engineering principles, and natural phenomena.
4. Leonardo da Vinci created the famous paintings "Mona Lisa" and "The Last Supper." His mastery in the art world is reflected in the impact and enduring popularity of these works.
5. The "Vitruvian Man" is a drawing of human proportions, and it is considered an iconic work of art and science because it represents Leonardo's meticulous study of the human body and his ability to combine art and scientific observation.

