The Day the Paintings Came to Life

Open Ended Questions Answers

1. The characters in the paintings might have felt surprised and excited when they came to life. They might have been curious about the real world and eager to experience it.
2. Responses may vary. Some students might choose "The Mona Lisa" because she is famous, while others might prefer a painting with more action, like "Starry Night."
3. Responses may vary. For example, someone might choose to step into a beach painting and spend the day building sandcastles, swimming in the ocean, and collecting seashells.
4. Emily decided to return to the real world because it was getting late, and she knew she had to leave the magical world of the paintings. She likely felt both sad to leave her new friends and happy to have had such a unique adventure.
